Heart Health

Maintaining heart health is vital for overall well-being. Managing key risk factors such as high blood pressure, high cholesterol, and smoking can reduce the risk of cardiovascular disease. Tools and supplements can support heart health effectively.

High blood pressure and cholesterol contribute to heart disease. Home blood pressure monitors help track levels regularly. Omega-3 supplements (1000 mg/day) and plant sterols (2g/day) can lower LDL cholesterol. Nicotine replacement therapies assist with quitting smoking.

Healthy Eating: A heart-healthy diet, combined with omega-3s (1000 mg/day), CoQ10 (100-200 mg/day), and fiber supplements like psyllium husk, supports heart function and cholesterol management.

Physical Activity: Exercise strengthens the heart. Use fitness trackers to monitor at least 150 minutes of moderate exercise per week.

Health Monitoring: Home devices like blood pressure monitors, cholesterol test kits, and glucose meters help track health indicators. Mental Well-Being: Managing stress benefits heart health. Magnesium (200-400 mg/day) and L-theanine (100-200 mg/day) can reduce stress effectively.

Adopt these practices and supplements to support your heart health. Visit the Heart and Stroke Foundation for more information: heartandstroke.ca

Blood Pressure

Managing high blood pressure is essential for reducing the risk of heart disease and stroke. Potassium (2,500-3,000 mg/day) helps balance sodium levels, promoting healthier blood pressure. Magnesium (200-400 mg/day) relaxes blood vessels, enhancing circulation and supporting stable blood pressure. Calcium (1,000-1,200 mg/day) contributes to cardiovascular health by aiding proper muscle and heart function.

Omega-3 fatty acids (1,000 mg/day) from fish oil reduce inflammation and improve heart performance, further supporting blood pressure management. Combining these supplements with regular physical activity can significantly enhance overall cardiovascular well-being.
