Taking Control of Your Diabetes

The Clinical Practice Guidelines, developed by Diabetes Canada, can help people with diabetes live longer, healthier lives. Following these guidelines can help you prevent long-term complications such as heart disease, stroke, and eye, foot or kidney problems.

On a Daily Basis, You Are the One in Charge

Every day you can make choices that will have a positive effect on your diabetes. You choose what, when, and how much to eat; whether to be physically active; when and how to take your medications and keep track of your blood glucose (sugar) levels. Your pharmacist and diabetes educator can help you by providing you with information and teaching you about diabetes care, and what to expect from your healthcare team.

Check at Every Visit

Your blood pressure, weight and if you smoke, ask your pharmacist or diabetes educator about a plan to help you quit.

Check at Least Every 3-6 Months

A1c: This is the blood test that tells you what your average blood glucose has been for the past 2-3 months.

Check at Least Once a Year

Cholesterol, kidney function test, foot exam and eye exam.

Sugar Alternatives

If you're trying to reduce the sugar and calories in your diet, you may be turning to artificial sweeteners or other sugar substitutes. Artificial sweeteners and sugar substitutes can help with weight management (artificial sweeteners have virtually no calories). Artificial sweeteners also don't contribute to tooth decay and cavities. But they aren't magic and moderation is key.
